VIII. FACTORS WHICH MAY AFFECT THE ISSUER'S PERFORMANCE IN THE NEXT QUARTER

Financial performance of the LC Corp Group will be significantly affected by the macroeconomic situation, in particular by the availability of mortgage loans for prospective customers. These factors determine to a considerable extent the demand for new apartments and the structure and prices of such apartments.

In accordance with the definition contained in IAS 18, the LC Corp Group recognizes revenue from sales of residential and retail premises at the time when principally all risks and benefits related to the given premises are transferred to the client and revenue can be reasonably measured. In consequence, revenue from sales in the following quarter will depend on the value of the premises transferred to the clients, in accordance with the above definition, in this period.

Operating results of the Group will also be influenced by the level of revenue generated from the rental of commercial space in the Arkady Wrocławskie centre, which depends on the euro exchange rate. The euro exchange rate influences also the valuation of a foreign currency loan and investment property, i.e. Arkady Wrocławskie and Wola Center.

The results of the following quarter will also depend on the level of the final valuation of the Wola Center property (the completion of the investment project is planned for Q3 2013).

MB Report on the LC Corp Group's operations in the first half of 2013

In the opinion of the Management Board, the long-term impact on the Group's results will also be exerted, among others, by:

- the fulfilment of the strategy of acquiring land intended for residential projects and carrying out such projects on this land to expand the Group's offer in the way corresponding to the market demand,
- the fulfilment of the strategy of increasing the share of commercial property in the portfolio of the LC Corp Group, including in particular the successful acquisition of the Sky Tower enterprise.

In this reporting period there were no such transactions in the LC Corp Group.

XII. RISK FACTORS SIGNIFICANT FOR THE GROUP'S OPERATION

Risk related to the situation on the financial and real estate markets

The factors that could exert a negative impact on the Group's activity include the policy implemented by the banking sector with regard to property development companies, as the scale of giving loans to property development companies will have a significant influence on the scale of commencing new projects. The policy of the banking sector with regard to mortgage loans affects natural persons and also represents a substantial risk factor. More restrictive criteria adopted by the banks to assess their clients' creditworthiness caused that numerous new potential residential buyers encounter the credit rating barrier. The lack of new credit solutions and the limited credit availability may be a factor reducing the demand for new flats and houses.

Foreign exchange risk

Revenue and liabilities resulting from an agreement on financing of the company managing the commercial property are denominated in EUR. In consequence, the Group is exposed to foreign exchange risk related to the fluctuations of PLN/EUR exchange rate.

Currency risk which results from servicing a foreign currency loan is minimized by collecting rent indexed against the currency of the loan financing the investment. The risk posed by timing differences between invoicing and loan repayment is reduced, depending on the market situation, by purchasing a relevant amount of foreign currency at the dates of invoicing rents.

The currency risk includes also the balance sheet valuation of the commercial property and valuation of the loans (financing the investment projects), which as at the balance sheet date are converted from EUR to PLN according to the average exchange rate of National Bank of Poland effective on that date.

Interest rate risk

The interest rate risk relates mainly to non-current financial liabilities, based on a floating interest rate. This risk is partly compensated by indexation of lease revenue. In some companies, financed with non-current investment loans, the transactions hedging against the interest rate risk will be effected and the hedge accounting will be kept, in accordance with the provisions of these loan agreements.

Credit risk

MB Report on the LC Corp Group's operations in the first half of 2013

The Group concludes transactions with renowned companies of good credit capacity. Moreover, owing to the current monitoring of receivables, the Group's exposure to the risk of uncollectible receivables is negligible.

In reference to the Group's other financial assets, such as cash and cash equivalents, the Group's credit risk is minimal, because the Group deposits resources in banks of good, stable financial standing.

There is no significant concentration of credit risk in the Group.

Liquidity risk

The Group aims to maintain a balance between continuity and flexibility of financing, by means of using different sources of financing, such as bank loans and bonds.

The Group has its own funds to secure the current activity and ongoing projects, however in order to expand its business the Group needs to obtain additional financing by entering into bank loan agreements or issuing bonds. Maturity dates of successive instalments are adjusted to projected proceeds from the sale of individual projects.

Risk related to implementation of property development projects

The carrying out of property development projects entails numerous significant risks due to the complex legal and technical nature of such projects. These risks include, in particular, failure to obtain permits indispensable to make use of real property as planned by the Group, delays in completion of projects, costs exceeding the costs assumed in the budget due to unfavourable weather conditions, insolvency of contractors or subcontractors, labour disputes concerning contractors or subcontractors, shortage of construction materials or equipment, accidents or unforeseeable technical difficulties, impossibility of obtaining occupancy permits or other required permits regarding a building or buildings, or changes in the regulations concerning the use of land. If any of the above-mentioned risks takes place, there may occur delays in completion of property development projects, an increase in costs or loss of revenue, freezing of funds invested to purchase the real property for development, and in some cases the inability to finalise projects, which may have a considerable adverse impact on the Group's operations, financial position or results.

Administrative and construction related risk

Imperfections in the provisions of the Polish legislation lead to situations where the construction administration authorities may issue administrative decisions (e.g. building permit) which infringe the provisions of law, which in turn may result in appealing against such decisions by third parties acting out of self-interest. Appealing against the above decisions (both legitimate and unfounded) may result in an interruption of the construction process, which translates directly into deterioration in the profitability of the project, and thus in the Investor's financial results. Furthermore, the significant risk is posed by the increasingly frequent requests of the communal authorities, which make the issue of a building permit conditional on the fulfilment of other additional conditions that do not arise from the provisions of the law.

Risk related to liability for flats and houses after their sales

The Group's activity will include in particular the sale of flats and houses. In connection with that the Group may be exposed to disputes and court proceedings related to completed projects, as a result of which the Group's undertakings may be obliged to fulfil specific obligations (e.g. resulting from performance bonds for construction works granted to clients). It may have a significant negative influence on the Group's activity, financial condition or results. The risk management in LC Corp S.A. takes place through the formalised process of the periodical identification, analysis and assessment of risk factors. In the process of risk identification appropriate procedures and processes are established, aimed at the elimination of or reduction in the risk for the Company and for the Group.

XIII. SUMMARY

In the opinion of the Management Board of LC Corp S.A. the objectives set for the Group were accomplished.
